Date of decision: 20/10/2000

ORAL JUDGEMENT

The petitioner detenu has, by filing this writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, challenged the legality and validity of order of detention dated 7th July, 2000, with respect to detenu passed by respondent No.2 in exercise of powers conferred upon him under Sec.3(2) of the Prevention of Antisocial Activities Act, 1985 (In short "the Act").

2. As per the papers of grounds of detention, it is the case of the detaining authority that petitioner detenu is a "dangerous person" within the meaning of Sec.2(c) of the Act and that his activities are prejudicial to the maintenance of public order. Before passing an order of detention, for arriving at his subjective satisfaction, the detaining authority placed reliance on three IPC Cases lodged against the detenu. Out of three cases, two cases are pending in the Court awaiting trial and one case is pending with the Investigating Officer for investigation. The detaining authority also placed reliance on statements of four anonymous witnesses whose identity has not been disclosed by claiming privilege under Sec.9(2) of the Act. That statements were verified by Sub-Divisional Officer on 7th July, 2000, and the detaining authority has passed an order of detention on 7th July, 2000, and that order has been challenged in this writ petition.

3. Though Rule has been served upon each respondent, none of the respondents has filed affidavit-in-reply in reply to the Writ Petition controverting the grounds mentioned in Memo thereof.

4. Ms.Pahwa, learned advocate for the petitioner has argued that the detaining authority has placed reliance on statements of four anonymous witnesses whose identity has not been disclosed by claiming privilege under Sec.9(2) of the Act but looking to the respective dates of statements, date of verification of said statements and date of passing order of detention, said claim of privilege is not genuine, and therefore, it violates mandate given in Article 22(5) of the Constitution of India. She has argued that the detaining authority has not verified the statements of these witnesses. On perusal of the statements of said four witnesses, it appears that the said statements were verified by Sub-Divisional Police Officer, Jetpur. After all subjective satisfaction was required to be arrived at by the detaining authority himself. Instead of that he has placed reliance on the verification made by the Sub-Divisional Police Officer, Jetpur. Thus, it can be said that the subjective satisfaction is based on non-application of mind. Learned advocate for the petitioner has also placed reliance on case of KALIDAS CHANDUBHAI KAHAR Vs. STATE OF GUJARAT AND OTHERS, reported in 1993(2) G.L.R. 1659, wherein it has been held that the detaining authority is expected to do some exercise before actually exercising the privilege under Sec.9(2) of the Act. He is required to do such exercise for verifying the correctness and genuineness of the facts stated in said statements. He has also to verify as to whether that persons are fictitious or real one and, therefore, the privilege claimed by him is not genuine. Looking to the facts and circumstances of the present case, this present case falls within the four corners of the case cited by Ms.Pahwa, and therefore, the order of detention is bad in law, illegal and same is required to be quashed and set aside.

5. In view of what is stated hereinabove, this writ petition is allowed. The order of detention dated 7.7.2000 (Annexure `A') passed by respondent No.2 is quashed and set aside. The petitioner-detenu is ordered to be released forthwith, if he is not required to be detained further for any criminal case or proceedings. Rule is made absolute. Direct service is permitted.
