It is contended by Shri Dharendra Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner had brought and unloaded 2000 quintals of boiled rice in the premises of F.C.I at Naila. At this stage, Mr. B.P. Gupta, learned counsel for respondents nos. 3 and 4 submits that some quantity was earlier deposited and some more quantity was subsequently deposited. It is also further contended by Shri Gupta that for want of production certificate, certain quantity of rice could not be deposited. However, it is submitted

	.. 2 .. Shri Mishra that production certificate duly obtained from the Competent Authority has since been submitted. It is further submitted by Shri Mishra that in view of interim order passed by this Court on 16/8/2001, the concerned Authority ought to have verified and accepted the supply of rice by the writ petitioner. However, according to Mr. Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner, about 15 days the trucks were lying there and in the process loss was also sustained by the writ petitioner. According to Mr. Gupta, learned counsel for respondents nos. 3 and 4, upon verification, if rice supplied by the writ petitioner meets the minium standard, there is no reason to reject. However, it is contended that if rice thus supplied is not good in terms of specification/standard laid down in this regard, then the Authority has no alternative, but to reject. It appears that I need not give any finding as regards the quality of rice. However, since rice is also perishable goods, the Competent Authority should immediately verify and take final decision of acceptance or rejection of the supply already made by the petitioner. This shall be done subject to submission of production certificate. Though it is submitted by Shri Mishra that in respect of some other persons such certificate is not insisted upon, if it is how the thing is done, then the petitioner must comply with the requirement of submission of production certificate from the Competent Authority.

If certain quantity of rice is rejected, in my view, there is no harm supplying sample of rejected rice to the petitioner, if requested, in this regard.
