Counsel for the petitioners submits that order has already been complied with and the admitted amount has been paid by the respondents to the petitioners. She submits that liberty may be given to the petitioners to raise the dispute by filing appropriate application, if there is any discrepancy in the amount which has been paid to them.

Since admitted amount has already been paid, I am not inclined to proceed with the contempt application. The same is, hereby, dropped.

If the petitioners feel aggrieved, the petitioners are at liberty to file appropriate application before the appropriate forum.
